

The reaction center from the photosynthetic bacterium Rhodospirillum rubrum (the membrane plane is horizontal). The quasi-two fold symmetry axis, which runs vertically, creates pairs of identical cofactors with very different properties. Examination of the protein-cofactor interactions provides insight to how Nature works at the atomic level.